winner of the international prize for arabic fiction josephine escapes poverty by coming to kuwait from the philippines to work as a maid where she meets rashid an idealistic only son with literary aspirations josephine with all the wide eyed naivety of youth believes she has found true love but when she becomes pregnant and with the rumble of war growing ever louder rashid bows to family and social pressure and sends her back home with her baby son josé brought up struggling with his dual identity josé clings to the hope of returning to his father s country when he is eighteen he is ill prepared to plunge headfirst into a world where the fear of tyrants and dictators is nothing compared to the fear of what will people say and with a filipino face a kuwaiti passport an arab surname and a christian first name will his father s country welcome him the bamboo stalk takes an unflinching look at the lives of foreign workers in arab countries and confronts the universal problems of identity race and religion lasting from september 1980 to august 1988 the iran iraq war was the longest conventional war fought between two states in the twentieth century it marked a period that began just after a revolutionary government in iran became an islamic republic and saddam hussein consolidated power in iraq it ended with both wartime governments still in power borders unchanged yet hundreds of thousands of people dead neither side emerged as a clear victor but both sides would eventually claim victory in some form dust that never settles considers how iraqi and iranian writers have wrestled with representing the iran iraq war and its legacy from wartime to the present it demonstrates how writers from both countries have transformed once militarized officially sanctioned war literatures into literatures of mourning and eventually into vehicles of protest that presented powerful counternarratives to the official state narratives in writing the first comparative study of the literary output of this war amir moosavi presents a new paradigm for the study of modern middle eastern literatures he brings persian and arabic fiction into conversation with debates on the political importance of cultural production across the middle east and north africa and he puts an important new canon of works in conversation with comparative literary and cultural studies within the global south combining empirical and theoretical approaches from a range of disciplines linguistic identities in the arab gulf states examines current issues surrounding language and identity in the arab gulf states organized in four parts the book addresses the overarching theme of waves of change in relation to language and power linguistic identities in the media identities in transition and language in education the authors of each chapter are renowned experts in their field and contribute to furthering our understanding of the dynamic changeable and socially constructed nature of identities and how identities are often intricately woven into and impacted by local and global developments although the book geographically covers gulf region contexts many of the concepts and dilemmas discussed are relevant to other highly diverse nations globally for example debates surrounding tolerance diversity neoliberal ideologies in english medium instruction emi media representation of language varieties and sociolinguistic inequalities during coronavirus communication are pertinent to regions outside the gulf too this volume will particularly appeal to students and scholars interested in issues around language and identity gender language policy and planning multilingualism translanguaging practice language in education and language ideologies this edited book offers a collection of fresh and critical essays that explore the representation of the migrant subject in modern and contemporary arabic literature and discuss its role in shaping new forms of transcultural and transnational identities the selection of essays in this volume offers a set of new insights on a cluster of tropes self discovery alienation nostalgia transmission and translation of knowledge sense of exile reconfiguration of the relationship with the past and the identity and the building of transnational identity a coherent yet multi faceted narrative of micro stories and of transcultural and transnational arab identities will emerge from the essays the volume aims at reversing the traditional perspective according to which a migrant subject is a non political actor in contrast to many books about migration and literature this one explores how the migrant subject becomes a specific literary trope a catalyst of modern alienation displacement and uncertain identity suggesting new forms of subjectification multiple representations of the migrant subject inform and perform the possibility of new post national and transcultural individual and group identities and actively contribute to rewriting and decolonizing history the global south has largely supplanted the third world in discussions of development studies postcolonial studies world literature and comparative literature respectively the concept registers a new set of relationships between nations of the once colonized world as their connections to nations of the north diminish in significance such relationships register particularly clearly in contemporary cultural theory and literary production the global south and literature explores the historical cultural and literary applications of the term for twenty first century flows of transnational cultural influence tracing their manifestations across the global southern traditions of africa asia and latin america this collection of interdisciplinary contributions examines the origins development and applications of this emergent term employed at the nexus of the critical social sciences and developments in literary humanities and cultural studies this book will be a key resource for students graduates and researchers working in the field of postcolonial studies and world literature
